

I cannot believe the government takes proposals like "Broadcast Flag" seriously. Because I use a WinTV card in a linux computer instead of a Microsoft computer, that should be criminal?

I am developing proprietary software for sale that will be usable from both Microsoft machines and linux. And I am using open source software heavily in the development and promotion of that software. Whenever I see proposals such as this arise, I wonder whether I would be better served moving us to Canada.

Seriously.

Land of free enterprise and creative invention? Bah! Land of the protected Fortune 500.
